PRESIDENT, KRBR CONSULTING, LLC

Kate Boyce Reeder is the President of KRBR Consulting LLC, which provides federal policy, legislative and appropriations consulting services primarily to Native American clients and nonprofit organizations.

Previously, she practiced law for decades as a Partner at Patton Boggs LLP, specializing in federal public policy and political law, and founded the firm's Indian law practice. For over 35 years, she represented sovereign governments, including Indian tribes, corporations and trade associations, as well as tribal health consortia, enterprises owned by tribes or Alaska Natives, and other Native American owned businesses. Ms. Boyce is co-author of the book Corporate Political Activity as well as several legal journal articles and is a member of the Federal Bar Association and its Indian Law Section, D.C. Bar Association, and National Native American Bar Association.

She serves on the Armed Services YMCA National Board of Directors, chairs the Advisory Council of the Child and Family Network Centers, D. C. Council of Vital Voices Global Partnership, and has led the FASD United Executive Committee for more than a decade.
